BOSTON

Now at The Good Father's, Montreal, the love of God for His Grace, for I was brought back home by God-fearing friends, but I was tempted and fell. I tried to do good, but through drink I got into a bad and lost situation after which until I got to the end of the road in the Old Country, and at last I would get a new start in Canada. So I came to Canada, became the son of well-known men, and started going on with my sins, and I came down to the bottom again, and then God to The Salvation Army, and found salvation and peace, and then I have tried by God's help to lead an upright and God-loving life.—E. W. Firth.

The last thirty years of my life have been spent in excessive drinking, and I had smoked tobacco ever since I was thirteen years of age. "On December 31st, 1913, God, for Christ's sake, pardoned my sins, and since that time I have had no desire for either tobacco or strong drink! All glory to the wonder-working power of God!"—V. Dewey.

"I was a drunkard, and had tried all the ways I knew to get rid of the drink habit, but in vain. "I spent five dollars in seeking to obtain a cure from the drink habit, but to no use. Down I went every night, and I could not get up in the morning. And He lifted me up, and saved me from my sins, and now I am a happy man!"—W. Dewey.

"I am glad that the time ever came in my life when I saw there was no deliverance for me, from the drink habit."

"While I was never a habitual drunkard, drink nevertheless had gained a power over me which I could not resist, and that God's power alone could deliver me from, and I am glad that I yielded to that power on January 1st, 1913, and God is giving me grace every day!"—T. Sorley.

When other members of the Army joined with their contractor to buy a plot of land in St. John, the man made them a large donation. In fact, his voluntary resistance had the good effect of having the case presented to him in its real colour, and in place of a small contribution which might have been the offering of an unconverted man, the generous donation of $200.

At the same time the project was under way, a meeting of the officers of the Army was held at the Club, and it was decided that there should be a

ON SOLDIER-MAKING.

"Heaven has so created the British Army," said Mr. Norman Angel, of London, Eng., when speaking in Toronto recently, "that it cannot be destroyed—except by fire. It is powerful and full of deep meaning. These words might well be taken abdito by all Salvation Army officers, for, as has often been said, we can harm the Army, but not its ranks."

"As we are 'to fight and under the Yellow, Red, and White,' we are bound to bring forward an appointment that so little effort is to be made to bring men and women into our ranks—even when they have been converted at our Pentecostal forms? Are we ashamed of the Organization to which we belong? If not, then why do we say so little about it, and secretly disbelieve in it? Is there not a spirit of those connected with other religious bodies? Has the Army given us a field for active service that others outside our ranks covet every day of their lives?"

"Then, what right have we to hear of the knowledge and experience of Civilization? What have we of value to believe that Soldiership in the Army gives the maximum of opportunities; and 'privileges'—and surely our presence in the ranks is a sign that we do!—then why not boast it for all we have worth, and wherever we may find ourselves?"

Temple's Day of Memories.

THE COMMISSIONER

CONDUCTS HIS FIRST SUNDAY'S ENGAGEMENTS SINCE HIS RECOVERY AT TORONTO'S DOWN-TOWN CORPS—THE STAFF BAND PRESENT—TWENTY-TWO SURRENDERS.

HERE was a two-fold reason for the resurrection joy which filled the Toronto Temple on Easter Sunday, April 9th. The previous week had witnessed the meetings, the soul-saving results, the spirit of comradeship between the two famous Bands that on this special occasion united under the baton of the Staff Bandmaster—all may be traced to the fact of a risen Saviour, and our beloved Commissioner's resurrection from a bed of sickness.

It was on the eve of a memorable campaign. The General's visit in November last—that our Leader was stricken down; it was on one of the holiest and happiest days of the year, that he conducted his first public meeting since his recovery. And how fitting it all seemed!

It might have been otherwise, pray the Commissioners, having no offset to think for his own presence on that beautiful spring-like morning. Ah! nobody realized that more than he. And as Staff-Captain Jost played, thanking God for Calvary and the Vanquisher of death, so the audience filling the body of the main Hall on Sunday evening, was powerfully reminded of the significance of the Easter Day.

One's thoughts travelled back to that first Easter Sunday when Mary Magdalene ran to the sepulchre, only to be filled with poignant sorrow that her Saviour was not there. While thus recalling the scene as it placed in record, while the congregation was singing, a young man came down one of the steps of the Hall and weeping, knelt at the empty sepulchres of the world; now he sought a living Saviour, and found Him as the meeting opened.

Captain Adams read a portion of Scripture, and Mrs. Major Finlay gave a very human account of her trials on leaving home to become an Army Officer. It was then that she tested the power of Christ's resurrection.

What better subject could be talked about on Easter Sunday morning, than Holiness? The Scripture might be taken of the Temple Singer's Brigade and the Staff Band, who sang solo selections, and then the Commissioner addressed the audience on the healing of the leper. The Saviour's power to restore spiritual health was (he said) just the same to-day as when He walked this earth, and so did at His touch just as did disease.

and infinity. He was the only One who rose from the dead. He was the only One who could or dared touch the loathsome leper.

Two young men were the first to kneel at the Mercy Seat. One had got half-way down the aisle when he was joined, as he passed by, another man, whose name I made to be Mr. Cross, a concealed actor took up the chorus and a large illuminated cross on the platform blazed out.

From the back of the Hall now came a white-robed procession of children, one hundred in all. As they marched up the aisle they sang "Jesus, Keep Our Cross." Right into the cross on the platform they filed, and when all were in position they sang a song about Calvary, whilst pictures of the scene on the Cross appeared on the screen. As the children marched the bands played that well-known child's hymn, "Gloria Jesus, Commissioner Richards Accorded a Tribal Welcome.

The visit of Commissioner Richards to the Rangitane Maoris will long be remembered (says a writer in the New Zealand "Cyclopedia").

The Commissioner, who was accompanied by Lieut.-Colonel Powley (Chief Secretary) was accorded a tribal welcome.

After the "greetings" which were carried out under an awning amidst fire and other scenes, the whole company adjourned to the Army Hall, where a meeting was in progress.

Songs in Maori, and then English, were sung, and played the way for the Commissioner's address. Before he had spoken half a dozen sentences, every member of the Maori tribes in the hall, older and younger, joined in cheering him.

When I invited the chief and the Chief of the International Committee were also present, and the former, a native from Africa, heard of a wonderful thing which had been done for native industries in Rhodesia.

Mr. Cox and Commissioner Richards, the latter, who were in the same boat, the former had enjoyed a good address; but when the former, a native, and the sound of tears are heard and felt a truly responsive place is found in their hearts.

As soon as the invitation to get followed by half a dozen young men, then another chief. After some to get rid of the surfeits, making you all sorts of aches and pains and depressions while doing so.

Fasting is a useful practice when in health, and a most beneficial usage when one is ill. It is known that many numbers of people who have cured themselves of all sorts of maladies by cutting off half, or even three-fourths, of their usual supply of food; while some have not only cured the diseases from which they have suffered, but prolonged their lives. Such a dieting practice is a well-known instance of an Italian gentleman, who was given up to the when about fifty, but who, through reducing himself to two meals a day, of the most limited quantity, lived to be over a hundred years of age.

It is a good rule to keep your body in health, eat at regular intervals. Let the stomach gas properly empty before you crowd any further supplies into it.

There is, of course, any quantity above of intestinal abstinence which will be remunerated, and more, I will be acted upon. Otherwise I might say, "Beware of Drugs." They will be useful at times, but the use of them in the better. Find out how much sleep your body requires, and get it in your bed. Eat a light meal, take a walk, do some exercise, and keep your body washed with pure water as the Apostle recommends. Open your windows, to let in the fresh air day and night. Keep a courageous mind, and trust in God for His guidance and preserving me every day. Live a simple life, step upon the path of integrity and virtue. And be sure and use the health and strength God gives you in promoting His glory, saving the souls of men, and extending the power and influence of the Salvation Army.

upper platform in the Senior Hall. It was a Sunday night, and I, to my consternation, was asked to say a few words. I was to represent the sisters. I was terrified, I had never made any sort of speech in public before, and I had nothing prepared to say.

I determined to say my best. Some one had told me previously that thought everyone could be a Christian, not everyone could be a Salvationist; that, in fact, Salvationists were born, not made. I stepped to the front of the platform and told the people this. I did not say a word, but I said, "I am a Salvationist." And I shall.

being introduced. Mrs. Booth, Sir John Barker said: "Countless millions whose memory is yours, Father, whose son has taken up his father's mantle, and whose grandsons are carrying on the same worthy work.

I remember the beginnings of The Salvation Army. In those early days it was almost impossible for Salvations to get a meeting together. They tore the brunt and kept the faith, and their works have prospered."

Commissioner Richards (twice Major Richards) considered to have been the greatest event in The Army's history in Java. There were fifty-four officers and 1200 men, and all classes of Army work were represented.

All the Officer delegates were brought to Batavia by the State railway free of charge, so that the short travelling expenses were for the most part borne by the State railway.

All Officers who had to travel for their services were allowed to do so at the expense of the State railway.

Open in Adelaide (Australia) by Commissioner Hay.

Through the generosity of Mr. J. McBrade, who donated fifteen thousand dollars towards the purchase of a property known as "The Brisbane," it has been made possible for The Army to open a new Material Hospital near Adelaide, South Australia.

ARMY SONGS.

Solo.
Tunes—Folked in the middle
In—Dear Jesus is the One I I've left, the land of death and sin.

The road that many travel in,
And if you ask the reason why,
I'm going to seek a home on high.

Chorus.
This world is not my home,
This world is not my home,
This world is not my resting place.

This world is not my home,

There are many would my progress stay,
And beg me not to weep or pray;
I dare not listen to their cry,
I seek a glorious home on high.

Say, sister, will you go with me?
And seek that land of liberty?
Oh, do not stay, but tell me why.
You will not seek this home on high!

Tunes—Wanted hearts, 347; What Book, 456.

2. A friend we have; 161; Song Wanted, hearts baptised with fire, hearts completely cleansed from sin;

Hearts that will go to the mire, hearts that dare do ought for Him;

Hearts that will be finer, braver, hearts like heroes gone before, Hearts enjoying God's full favour, hearts to love Him more and more.

Chorus.
Hearts to hold the Colours bravely,
Hearts to share the hardest fight;
Hearts that know their duty clearly,
Hearts to dare and do the right.

Wanted, hearts to love the masses, hearts to help Him seek the lost;

Hearts to help Him save all classes, hearts to help Him save the worst.

Hearts to share with Him the weeping, hearts to bear with Him
the cross;

Hearts to help Him with the reaning, hearts to trust through gain or loss.

3. Tune—“Stella.”
Give me, the faith that can remove . . .
and the mountain to a plain;
Give me the child-like praying love
Which longs to build Thy house again.

Thy love let it my heart overpower,
And all my simple soul devour.

I would the precious time redeem,
And longer live for that alone,
To see what is to be spent for them
Who have not yet my Saviour known.

And turn them to a pardoning God,
And quench the brands in Jesus'’
Blood.

My talents, gifts, and graces, Lord,
Imply thy blessed hands receive,
And let me live to preach Thy Truth.

And let me live to Thy glory live,
My every sacred moment spend
In publishing the sinner's Friend.

It will greatly help correspondents to have the names of the tunes, and the page number, etc., etc.
